

Proposal for Exchange Listing

www.PulseChainFoundation.org

Presented by BarChef

Problem Statement

PulseChain is not currently listed on any centralized exchanges, limiting its rightful place in rankings and reducing its reach in wider markets.

Why a CEX?

01

Market Access

A CEX is often more accessible to a broader audience, including those not familiar with DeFi

04

Brand Recognition

Being listed on well-known CEXes can further enhance the credibility & visibility of PulseChain

02

Fiat Onramps

A CEX enables users to directly purchase PLS using fiat currencies like USD, EUR, etc

05

Market Making

Market-making services are useful to help maintain liquidity and stabilize PLS volatility

03

User Experience

A CEX typically offers a more user-friendly experience for beginners vs. the more complicated DeFi

06

Ancillary Services

Being on a CEX also opens up PLS to other TradFi-like services, including futures and margin trading

For the record - WE DONT LIKE CEX

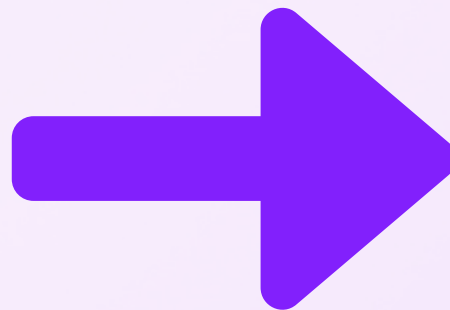

But, we are business people first and foremost.
Results and growth drives us, before emotions do.

Today's real world requires the best ecosystems to be broadly accessible to all, including in places we dislike.

Solution

PulseChain's native token is ready to be listed on MEXC as its first listing on a centralized exchange (post OKX)
